

Caged

MR.

From a series of ten manipulated hand-drawings of various species of birds. At first glance, the birds seem whole; on closer inspection, one sees that their wings have been removed. The birds are overlaid with the names of notorious serial-killers (men who have killed women), names which might at first be mistaken for the names of kings, members of the nobility, or presidents.